

	VIDEO	AUDIO
1	Open on a 65-year old man, healthy but a bit pudgy, at home on his couch watching a trivia show.	MAN: (to TV) Macramé! TV: Macramé! MAN: Obviously.
2	He nods his head at the screen as his wife walks in wearing workout clothes. She's healthy but normal.	WIFE: Wanna go to the gym? MAN: Uh, it's too expensive. WIFE: Actually, our UnitedHealthcare Medicare plans come with Renew Active, a gym membership and more, at no extra cost.
3	The remote disappears into thin air. He looks confused and turns back to his wife.	MAN: I'm not a workout kinda guy. WIFE: You get a personalized fitness plan.
4	The ottoman under his feet vanishes into thin air and his feet hit the floor. He points to the TV.	MAN: I'm exercising my brain. WIFE: And an online brain health program.
5	The rest of the couch disappears and he ends up on the floor. But not on his living room floor. He lands on the floor in the gym. A trainer with a Renew Active logo on his shirt is also there, ready to help him work out. Suddenly his clothes turn into gym clothes.	MAN: I need workout clothes? WIFE: They have TVs here too.
6	Renew Active by UnitedHealthcare logo appears on screen	AVO: Renew Active, only from UnitedHealthcare Medicare including the only plans with the AARP name.